Geneva, May 20: In the backdrop stood the United Nations as hundreds with blue yoga mats gathered near the Broken Chair (a monumental wooden sculpture) to be a part of the weeklong 71st World Health Assembly (WHA). In a first, the Indian government has pushed for a yoga session ahead of the annual World Health Organisation (WHO) event in Switzerland to propagate Ayush globally.

"Yoga is not a religion, it is a way of living that aims towards a healthy mind in a healthy body. I am sure that WHO's slogan for 'health for all' shall be fulfilled in one of the best ways through the propagation and practice of yoga," said Union Health Minister J. P. Nadda soon after he met WHO director general Dr. Tedros Adhanom Ghebreyesus. Nadda said that "yoga is an important aspect to stay healthy", and more sessions are planned with WHO in the coming days.

The planning for a yoga session ahead of the 71st WHA has been under way for a month and a half in Geneva. On Sunday, yoga got space amid an African dancing session, and Thai and Dutch workout as the WHO set the floor open for its global event 'Walk The Talk'. The 30-minute session saw an excited turnout from various countries, with hundreds participating in an 8 km walk before stretching on yoga mats.

At 62, retired US-based human rights activist Laura Striker said she went for the yoga session to learn the basics. "I had back surgery recently, and may benefit from yoga," she said. From Sri Lanka, Chandika Indikadahena was the first to join Sunday's session.

'Nowadays, people are stressed and yoga helps." Catherina Tadialova (23), who represents an NGO in the assembly, said yoga culture is also

In February, the WHO set up an Ayush department under its traditional medicine unit. "Siddha and Unani make immense contribution to the health system. We are trying to get it acknowledged. In India, Sri Lanka, Bangladesh, Uzbekistan, Nepal and South America, it is already practised as part of the health system," said Dr Geetha Krishnan, who works with the traditional medicine unit and is currently working to structure the Ayush department in WHO headquarters in Geneva. The Indian government is set to hold three more yoga sessions in the UN during the week-long assembly. Officials with the Indian delegation said that International Yoga Day on 21 June will be planned as a grand event. "Exercising is important. Even if you do it daily for some time, it could lead to a healthy life," the WHO director general said.

"Yoga is not a religion, it is a way of living that aims towards a healthy mind in a healthy body. I am sure that WHO's slogan for 'health for all' shall be fulfilled in one of the best ways through the propagation and practice of yoga," said Union Health Minister J. P. Nadda soon after he met WHO director general Dr. Tedros Adhanom Ghebreyesus. Nadda said that "yoga is an important aspect to stay healthy", and more sessions are planned with WHO in the coming days.

The planning for a yoga session ahead of the 71st WHA has been under way for a month and a half in Geneva. On Sunday, yoga got space amid an African dancing session, and Thai and Dutch workout as the WHO set the floor open for its global event 'Walk The Talk'. The 30-minute session saw an excited turnout from various countries, with hundreds participating in an 8 km walk before stretching on yoga mats.

At 62, retired US-based human rights activist Laura Striker said she went for the yoga session to learn the basics. "I had back surgery recently, and may benefit from yoga," she said. From Sri Lanka, Chandika Indikadahena was the first to join Sunday's session.

'Nowadays, people are stressed and yoga helps." Catherina Tadialova (23), who represents an NGO in the assembly, said yoga culture is also

In February, the WHO set up an Ayush department under its traditional medicine unit. "Siddha and Unani make immense contribution to the health system. We are trying to get it acknowledged. In India, Sri Lanka, Bangladesh, Uzbekistan, Nepal and South America, it is already practised as part of the health system," said Dr Geetha Krishnan, who works with the traditional medicine unit and is currently working to structure the Ayush department in WHO headquarters in Geneva. The Indian government is set to hold three more yoga sessions in the UN during the week-long assembly. Officials with the Indian delegation said that International Yoga Day on 21 June will be planned as a grand event. "Exercising is important. Even if you do it daily for some time, it could lead to a healthy life," the WHO director general said.

नीचे दिये गए गद्यांश को पढ़कर पूछे गये प्रश्नों के उत्तर दीजिए।

पं॰ चंद्रधर शर्मा गुलेरी की 'उसने कहा था' नामक कहानी 1915 में प्रकाशित हुई। संवेदना और शिल्प की दृष्टि से यह कहानी बेजोड़ थी। 1916 में प्रेमचंद की कहानी 'पंच परमेश्वर' प्रकाशित हुई। इस कहानी को अभूतपूर्व लोकप्रियता प्राप्त हुई। इस कहानी में कोई शिल्पगत चमत्कार नहीं, इसमें ग्रामीण जीवन, किसानों की सहदयता, उनके काँइयाँपन का चित्र और उनके आदर्श की स्थापना है। यह आदर्श गांधीवाद से जुड़ा है। पूरी कहानी में हमारे परिचित जीवन की आत्मीयता स्थापित है। कथा कहने का ढंग बिल्कुल सहज है। प्रेमचंद की कहानियाँ बहुत सहज ढंग से शुरू होती हैं। वे अपनी उठान में पंचतंत्र या जातकों की याद दिला देती हैं। प्रेमचंद की कहानियों का संसार बह्त ट्यापक एवं विविधतापूर्ण है। वह अपने काल के उत्तर भारत का शब्द-रूप है। प्रेमचंद की दृष्टि निस्संदेह वैज्ञानिक एवं प्रगतिशील है, किंतु वे अपनी कहानियों को जनमानस द्वारा अंगीकृत भी बना सकते हैं - यह उनकी निजी रचनात्मक सफलता है। उनकी प्रारंभिक कहानियों पर लोकवार्ताओं का प्रभाव है, जैसे - 'सारंगा सदावृक्ष', 'आत्माराम', 'दाम्ल का कैदी' आदि। 'दाम्ल का कैदी' में तो कथानक गढ़ने में प्नर्जन्म का भी सहारा लिया गया है।
