Directions (Q. 1-2) : In the following items, each passage consists of six sentences. The first and the sixth sentence are given in the beginning as S1 and S6. The middle four sentences in each have been removed and jumbled up. These are labeled P, Q, R and S. You are required to find out the proper sequence of the four sentences and mark your response accordingly on the Answer Sheet

1. S1 : The bureaucrat and the social worker are men of totally different orientations and styles of functioning.

S6 : The world will be a better place to live in if they learn a little from each other.

P : The other is considered to be a man ever on the move.

Q : He is portrayed as a man fond of rules above all other things.

R : The one is regarded as given to sedentary habits, doing a lot of paper work.

S : Driven by an urge to help others he is impatient with red tape and unnecessary delays.

The proper sequence should be

- | | |
|-------------|-------------|
| (a) P Q R S | (b) R Q P S |
| (c) S R Q P | (d) Q P S R |

2. S1 : One of the many young scientists who chose to throw in their lot with Rutherford was an Oxford physical chemist, Frederick Soddy.

S6 : We now know that Gamma rays are a particularly fierce form of X-rays.

P : His association with Rutherford lasted only two years, but that was long enough to change the whole face of physics.

Q : He was just 23.

R : They found that thorium changed into a new element, thorium X, and in the process gave off what was apparently a gas and at the same time a third type of ray, which they named after the Greek letter 'Gamma'.

S : When he teamed up with Rutherford, they investigated thorium which, as Marie Curie had shown, was radioactive.

The proper sequence should be

- | | |
|-------------|-------------|
| (a) P Q S R | (b) Q P S R |
| (c) Q P R S | (d) Q S R P |

Directions (Q. 3-4) : Look at the underlined part of each sentence. Below each sentence are given three possible substitutions for the underlined part. If one of them (a), (b) or (c) is better than the underlined part, indicate your response on the Answer Sheet against the corresponding letter (a), (b) or (c). If none of the substitutions improves the sentence, indicate (d) as your response on the Answer Sheet.

(c) on his destination (d) No improvement
4. We can go out whenever we choose to, isn't it?
(a) can't we (b) are we not
(c) don't we (d) No improvement

Directions (Q. 5-7) : Read the following passage and answer the questions based on the contents of the passage and opinion of the author only.

Passage - Most disputes about whether or not men are stronger than women are meaningless because the word 'strong' may mean many things. Most men can surpass most women in lifting heavy weights, in striking an object, in running, jumping or doing heavy physical labour. But most women live longer than most men, they have a better change of resisting disease, they can beat men at operations requiring finger dexterity and the ability to work accurately under monotonous conditions. So it would be legitimate to argue that women are stronger than men. The truth is that each gender can surpass the other in certain kinds of activities. To say that one is stronger than the other is to indulge in futile arguments.

5. Which one of the following statements best reflects the main contention of the author?
(a) In most cases men are stronger than women.
(b) Since women are healthier than men they are also stronger.
(c) In some activities men are stronger than women and in some others women are stronger than men.
(d) Men and women are equally strong.
6. The author says that any dispute about whether or not men are stronger than women is meaningless, because
(a) it is an already established fact that men are stronger than women.
(b) the word 'stronger' can be interpreted in various ways.
(c) it is difficult to assess the comparative strength of men and women.
(d) it is a dispute that might harm the man-woman relationship in our society.

7. The author says it would be legitimate to argue that women are stronger than men, because
- the author believes in the superior strength of women.
 - the author is not committed to any opinion.
 - in some of the activities women do give an impression that they are stronger than men.
 - in fact women are inferior to men in every respect.

Directions (Q. 8-9) : Each of the following sentences has a blank space and four words are given below it. select the word or group of words you consider most appropriate for the blank space and indicate your response on the Answer Sheet accordingly.
