Question ID : 97675521691

Comprehension:

Read the following passage carefully and answer the questions given below.

On a cold winter day, Emperor Akbar and his favourite minister Birbal were walking along the lake that was in the palace garden. Suddenly, a thought occurred to Birbal that a man would do anything for money. When he said so to Akbar, the Emperor said, "I don't think a man would spend an entire night in the cold water of this lake for money." Birbal replied, "I am sure I can find such a person." Akbar then challenged Birbal to find such a person and said that he would reward the person with a thousand gold coins.

Birbal managed to find a poor man who was desperate enough to accept the challenge. On the appointed day, the poor man stepped into the lake. There were guards posted near him to ensure that he spent the whole night in the lake. The next morning the man was taken to meet the Emperor. Akbar asked the poor man if he had indeed spent the night in the lake. The poor man replied that he had. Akbar then asked the poor man how he had managed to spend the night in the lake. The poor man replied that he had done so by looking at a street lamp that was at some distance from the lake. The thought of a warm street lamp had given him some comfort. On hearing this, Akbar refused to reward the poor man as he had survived the night by thinking about the warmth of the street lamp. The poor man was terribly disappointed and he decided to approach Birbal for help.

The next day, Birbal did not go to the Emperor's court. Akbar sent a messenger to look for Birbal. The messenger came back saying that Birbal would come once his rice was cooked. Many hours passed but Birbal did not come to the court. Finally, the king decided to go to Birbal's house to see what was keeping Birbal away from the court. He found Birbal sitting on the floor near some burning twigs and a bowl filled with rice hanging five feet above the fire. Akbar laughed and said to Birbal, "I thought you were a clever man. How can you cook the rice if it is so far away from the fire?" Birbal answered, "My Lord, the same way the poor man received warmth from a street lamp that was at some distance from the lake." The King realized his mistake and gave the poor man his reward.

Comprehension:

Read the following passage carefully and answer the questions given below.

On a cold winter day, Emperor Akbar and his favourite minister Birbal were walking along the lake that was in the palace garden. Suddenly, a thought occurred to Birbal that a man would do anything for money. When he said so to Akbar, the Emperor said, "I don't think a man would spend an entire night in the cold water of this lake for money." Birbal replied, "I am sure I can find such a person." Akbar then challenged Birbal to find such a person and said that he would reward the person with a thousand gold coins.

Birbal managed to find a poor man who was desperate enough to accept the challenge. On the appointed day, the poor man stepped into the lake. There were guards posted near him to ensure that he spent the whole night in the lake. The next morning the man was taken to meet the Emperor. Akbar asked the poor man if he had indeed spent the night in the lake. The poor man replied that he had. Akbar then asked the poor man how he had managed to spend the night in the lake. The poor man replied that he had done so by looking at a street lamp that was at some distance from the lake. The thought of a warm street lamp had given him some comfort.
